ENGLISH

By joining the lively community of readers and writers in the Carthage English Department, you will immerse yourself in the habits of critical and creative thinking that prepare you for many different careers. We teach you to dive deeper by asking big questions about life, art, history, freedom and justice. English majors are informed and effective communicators. Our graduates now work in fields as varied as education, graphic design, library science, marketing, public relations, creative writing, journalism, and law.
